DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1 – 43, drawn to A Layered Composite waterproofing Membrane, classified in class 52, subclass 140.
- II. Claims 44 – 69, drawn to A Method of making A Layered Composite Waterproofing Membrane for Reducing Crack Formation and Propagation in Concrete Slabs and Walls, classified in class 428, subclass 703.
- III. Claims 70 – 84, drawn to A Method of using a Layered Composite Waterproofing Membrane, classified in class 52, subclass 408.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions group II (A Method of making A Layered Composite Waterproofing Membrane for Reducing Crack Formation and Propagation in Concrete Slabs and Walls and group I (A Layered Composite waterproofing Membrane) are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make another and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case group I (A Layered Composite Waterproofing Membrane) may be made by using a different process than the process of group II (A Method of making A Layered Composite Waterproofing Membrane for Reducing Crack Formation and Propagation in Concrete Slabs and Walls) for example compressing overlapped layers with a panel; or just connecting the layers with an adhesive, without using any compressing equipment, where the end product (a composite membrane) will be the same.

Inventions group I (A Layered Composite waterproofing Membrane) and group III (A Method of using a Layered Composite Waterproofing Membrane) are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product. See MPEP § 806.05(h). In the instant case can be used for purposes other than crack prevention such as debris prevention or to increase structural toughness or the group I invention may be used by using different steps than the steps claimed in group III such as applying drainage product to the plastic film and then apply the composite membrane to a concrete slab, where the end product is the same.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

A telephone call was not made to applicant to request an election to the above restriction requirement. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
